Events 2004-05

From the Desk of Chairman

Dear Parents,

Greetings from "PAAVAI"

I feel much honored to be with you again through this Newsletter 2005. Four years have gone. PAAVAI is in the process of delivering her first batch in May 2005. As I wrote you a bit earlier, so many steps have been taken to mould our young engineers to be the dynamic leaders and problem solvers in all the areas of their workings.

Every institution has its unique culture, teaching philosophy and management style. Modern times have seen a greater outreach and lesser boundaries between one institution and another. Often their functions run parallel and some times overlap. An institution thrives only because of its capacity to make its students employable. PAAVAI has been a variable add-on to her strength and her students always are employable. As such training and placement activities were started well ahead and now the outgoers are getting placed batch by batch.

In PAAVAI, it may appear to be much solidarity and strength of common purpose amongst the staff fraternity and which is the fore most cause that "PAAVAI" could emerge like what she is now within a short period, say four years. Progress, in PAAVAI, is defined as a common way for common good. We are much confident to build up unassailable stronghold in the areas of teaching, coaching and training the leadership traits among the students - the leaders of tomorrow. We are very much aware of the various expectations of the industry and we tried our level best to release the first batch of engineers with good employability skills profile to fulfill the requirements of the employers in the performance of all technical jobs.

We continue to take on a multifaceted role and equip ourselves to suit the standards of the industry and commit ourselves to create inspired work in every way of our doing that we undertake for the cause of the bright future of our students. In this way the comprehensive service being rendered by the 'teaching mass - our untired staff team' will go a long way in upholding the sovereignty of technical education as a whole. No doubt, one can accept that PAAVAI is considered sacrosanct, with aura of her exclusivity and dedication in her endeavors, but I can say, this is only because of the cooperation, continuous support and encouragements given by the parents.

PAAVAI ever reminds that

Think of the things that make you happy
Not the things that makes you sad
Think of the happiness of others
And in this you'll find your own

I extend my heartfull of gratitude to you all and let this be a call for all of us to be there, for our young engineers, with sincere, dependable and mutual trust. Finally, I draw your kind attention to the forth coming pages which portray some of the events that took place during the academic year 2004-05....
